

DRAWING COMPETITION

The Health Behaviour in School-aged Children (HBSC) study are looking for young artists to take part in a drawing competition. We are calling on everyone between the ages of 10 and 16 to use their imagination and draw something that shows us what the lives of today's young people are really like.

Winners will receive a certificate, Amazon vouchers (up to £50) and their work will be featured in our forthcoming World Health Organization report and promoted on social media.

Pick up a pencil, start sketching and send us your submissions by 6pm (GMT) on the 29th of November.

Find out more about the competition, eligibility and how to take part by emailing youthart@hbcs.org or contacting your local HBSC research team.

ABOUT THE STUDY

HBSC is a study that looks at the health and health-related behaviour of school-aged children across Europe and North America. The study is run by a network of researchers in close partnership with the World Health Organization. Every 4 years, the researchers visit schools with a specially created questionnaire and collect data that helps us understand child health in the broader context of how and where young people live their lives. To find out more, visit www.hbcs.org.

WHO CAN TAKE PART?

The competition is open to anyone aged between 10 and 16 at the time of submission. All entrants must have the permission of their parents or legal guardians to participate in the competition.

HOW CAN I TAKE PART?

Participation is free.

The competition will close at 6pm (GMT) on the 29th of November 2019.
